ABANGOMERE ESTON

The great Canadian sire whose influence weighs heavily in the success of the Ronan Farm Herd in Alberta, Canada. Abangomere Eston is the grandsire of "Pacesetter," second place Sire of the Year in 1974. "Pacesetter" is the sire of one of the very popular bulls on the show circuit today, whose championships include 1976 North American Junior Champion Bull.

Abangomere Eston daughters are envied as highly productive females. The top selling heifer calf at $5000 at the 1974 Cross-Country was out of a daughter of Abangomere Eston. This same heifer calf went on to top a Ken-Caryl Ranch sale at $10,000. Two daughters of Abangomere Eston were among the very high selling females in the Hackamore Dispersion.

TEXAS RED ANGUS NEWS

Junior Association For Texas Red Angus May Be Formed At Inez May 28

Inez, Texas — The Texas Red Angus Association's annual meeting will be held at the Owen Colla Ranch near Inez, South Texas, on Saturday, May 28, during which discussion and probable formation of a Texas Junior Red Angus Association will be held.

If such a junior association is formed in Texas it will be the first state junior association in the U.S.

Jim Bauer of Winnie, Texas, who is now a Red Angus breeder, but was earlier a junior member of the Red Angus Assn. of America, is a strong worker with ARAA Juniors, is one of the strong backers of the effort to establish a Texas junior association.

Other activities of the annual meeting will be discussion of the feasibility of dividing the Texas Red Angus Association into two units because of the geographical size of the state to make association activities more workable for officers and directors, who now find it difficult to meet regularly.

L. B. Golemon, Jr., Jacksonville, president of Texas Red Angus Assn., said that at the present it is almost impossible for a quorum of directors to get together more than once a year.

"We need to have quarterly meetings, and a smaller area with less travel involved might permit more frequent meetings," Golemon said.

In the event the members decide to divide the state into two associations, boundaries of divisions would be established, and officers and directors of the two new associations elected at the Inez meeting, said Mike Sweet, executive director of Red Angus Association of America, Denton.

Gregg County Rancher Named "Build East Texas" Chairman

V. A. (Bill) Clements, Jr., Longview rancher, has been named chairman of the 68 county build East Texas economic growth program. Clements, one of the original organizers of BET, has been active in boosting East Texas agriculture for many years. Jerry Nichols, Nacogdoches, was named vice-chairman and Scott Harris, Henderson, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Directors elected at the annual BET meeting include: Wells Burton, Longview; Ed Waggoner, Lufkin; Jack Dill, Wadsworth; Elmer Ray Oates, Woodville; Jim Paton, Livingston; Harvay Loupee, Daingerfield; C. B. Richards, San Augustine; Curtis Conner, Delmar; and Mervin Waddleton, Tyler.

Each chairman of the nine BET multi-county groups will also serve on the executive committee.

"Red Baldy" Certificates Now Available

Denton, Texas — Certification of Red Baldy cattle by the Red Angus Association of America is now a reality and such certificates are being issued to any breeder who uses a registered Red Angus bull in his Hereford herd.

Mike Sweet, executive director of the ARAA, said lots of inquiries have already been received from the far West and Midwest, and a sprinkling of interest has been shown from breeders in the Southwest.

The certificate will be used by Hereford breeders using Red Angus bulls to positively identify feeder cattle and replacement heifers as having been sired by a Red Angus bull, giving the calves the hybrid vigor, milking ability, higher weaning weights, and faster, more efficient gaining ability. Black Baldy calves sired by Black Angus bulls command a premium of $2.00 to $4.00 cwt. above market prices for straight Hereford feeder calves because of their faster and more efficient gaining ability. Certification of Red Baldies is intended to do the same for calves sired by Red Angus bulls, but which retain a more Hereford-like coloring.

"The certificates are free, and are to be passed from hand-to-hand when a Red Baldy animal is traded, going direct from the producer to the next owner, and so on eventually to the packer," Sweet said.

Commercial calf producers using Red Angus bulls on Hereford cows may obtain the certificate by contacting the Red Angus Assn. of America, Box 776, Denton, Texas 76201, phone 817/867-8602.

Upon accepting the chairmanship, Clements challenged the crowd of more than 150 to strengthen the leadership of East Texas agriculture and become actively involved in solving problems and taking advantage of opportunities.

Clements noted five situations that are currently exerting influence on East Texas agriculture. "It has been predicted that petroleum from known reserves will be depleted in 30 years," he pointed out. "From the hydrocarbon industry, we currently get fertilizer, chemicals, feeds, equipment, utilization, transportation, plastics and much of our processing. Can we make the agricultural system as we know it now work without this source of energy?"

"Secondly," Clements said, "in less than 30 years, at the current rate of six percent inflation, ground most will retail for $4.67 per pound, with labor being more than one-half the cost to the retailer. A current income of $10,000 will need to be $45,000 just to keep up." Clements asked the group how much more will farm margin suffer as the result of this inflation?

The new chairman said that unless legislation out of existence, co-ops will take over agricultural production, supply and available money. "Cooperatives in this country currently market 67 percent of the cotton, 60 percent of dairy products, 41 percent of the grain, 10 percent of the livestock and 16 percent of the poultry. Co-ops also handle 40 percent of the chemicals, 42 percent of the fertilizer, 40 percent of the petroleum products and 10 percent of the farm equipment," Clements said.

"Where will non-farming agricultural areas such as the BET area sell their products and buy their goods and services?"

The fourth situation pointed out by Clements was world hunger. "Foreign markets now take one in three of the harvested acres in this country," he calculated. "Grain supplies exert inordinate influence on local food supply fluctuations and beef markets. Will hungry nations and world weather keep agriculture in a state of flux and uncertainty?"

Clements predicted that financing is becoming a higher risk and that more total capital is being required per production unit. "At the same time, capital inputs such as fertilizer, fuel and labor are becoming scarcer," he said. "Will today's agricultural programs work under tomorrow's conditions?"

Dr. Phil Gramm, keynote speaker, pointed out that during the past 10 years, the retail price index is up 74 percent and the wholesale price index has risen 87 percent. "We will not stop inflation until we balance the budget," he noted. "Economists predicted that with growing world demand, the future of agriculture is good; however, problems will continue to arise and producers must be willing to meet them."

The Big Red Ones...
"Commercially Speaking"

As a commercial seed stock producer you are looking for net results in a crossbreeding program. The net results that mean the most are summed up with one word, profit.

Red Angus are "big" on performance. In fact, that's what they're all about and registered Red Angus bulls are sold with a certificate which states exactly how they have performed from birth to yearlings.

What's more, Red Angus bulls are naturally polled in addition to being red in color. If there was ever a color in the world that related to performance, it is red.

If you are looking for profitable performance, then you're looking for The Big Red One...

On August 3, 1492, Christopher Columbus set sail from Spain, seeking honor and wealth by establishing new trade routes with India. Since he had miscalculated the circumference of the earth by 6,331 miles, he was destined to spend years in a vain search for the mainland of Asia. In 1502 he died poor and forgotten.
